Description of Tiers: All tier assignments are subject to review by Endocrine Society staff. Factors including number of FTEs and usage will be considered.

Exclusive Agents: For orders in Europe, East Asia, Turkey and Japan, please contact our agents directly. Please visit our website at <http://www.endo-society.org/journals/subscription/institutions/> for tier descriptions and Exclusive Agents.

Important Information:

1. Subscription Frequency - 12 issues per year plus supplements are published for the three primary journals of The Endocrine Society (Journal of Clinical Endocrinology & Metabolism, Endocrinology, and Molecular Endocrinology). Endocrine Reviews publishes 6 issues per year (bi-monthly). Subscriptions includes access to the electronic articles dating 1997 to present. Print subscriptions includes online access. Online-only access is available. Additional print subscriptions are also available. Articles 1917-1996 are part of Endocrine Legacy.

2. Prices quoted are in US dollars and are effective immediately. Payments must be made in US dollars and checks must be drawn on a US bank. Subscribers please add appropriate sales, GST, and VAT taxes. Prices are subject to change.

3. Agent Discount - In most cases the publisher offers a 5% discount on each paid order to recognized subscription agents. Orders from subscription agents for institutional subscribers must specify the end-user information (institution name and address) for purposes of verifying the type of institution as well as the end-user's email address.

4. Tiers - Agent must collect subscription fee based on quoted tier and rate. Changes must be approved by The Endocrine Society. Please contact Marlene Zendell, Circulation Director at mzendell@endo-society.org

5. Claims Policy - Requests for missing issues from US subscribers will only be honored between one and four months of the issue date and for International subscribers, between two and five months of the issue date.
